While Cheryl Swager poses for the camera, B.G. Ward and Cathy Hansen practice 'smiling.'

Seventh grader Roger Hammons busily works a math problem in the quietness of the library.

2014064

Mr. Kramer shows Scott Stewart and Phil Merrill what happens if you eat too much junk food - you'd look like Mr. X.

Mr. Schaffer watches his gym class as they make their run back to the gym.

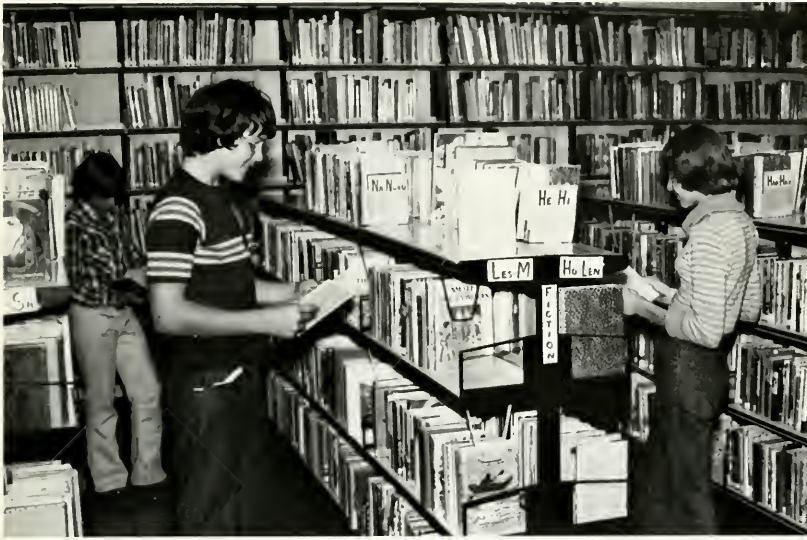

Janet Barbre and Mary Ann Griswold wait patiently for Jill Firth to get her pom poms from her locker.

The enthusiastic 8th graders attempt to out yell the freshmen at a pep session.

Ted Goode and Tracy Hodge show 'interest' in books after they were caught in the library by the yearbook photographer.

Having Fun Is Part Of 'Life at Lane'

Denise and Karen give their yearbook staff a 'ride' to thank them for working on activity pictures. Was it work or was it play?

Mr. Merchant takes time to talk with Naomi Scott about her grade average in his eighth grade social studies class.

Mr. Tallman makes ready to excite, enthuse, and educate his seventh grade science class.

From The Hours Of 8:00-3:00 All Vikings Get Into The Swing Of School

Lane students scurry down the stairs so they won't be late for their next classes.

Todd Kallmeyer concentrates on his drafting project which is to be completed at the end of the class period.

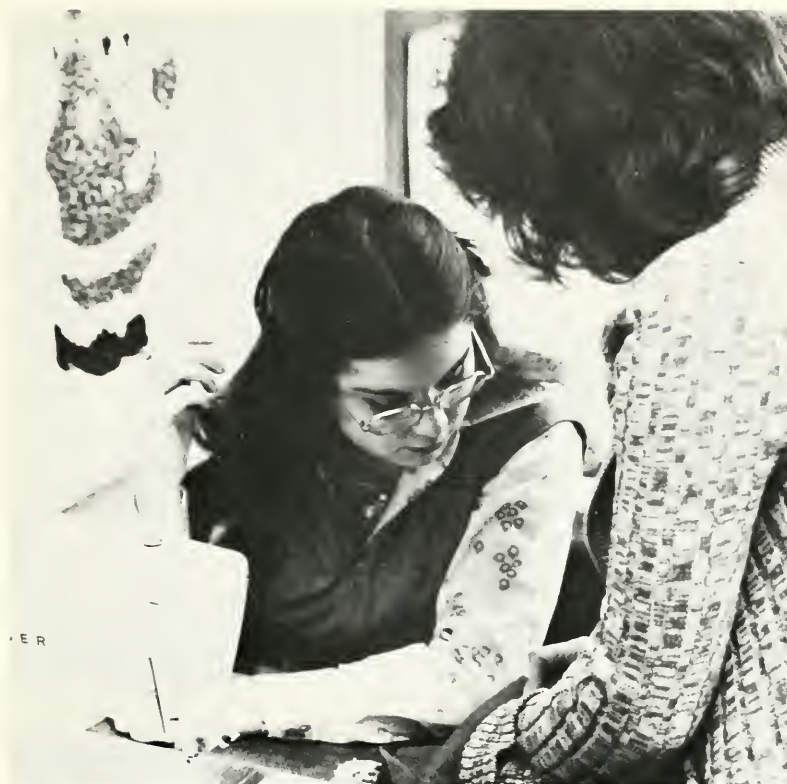

Mike Sproat carefully adds the final touches to his model of a motorcycle he has made.

Don Phillips, Sue Stammen and Mindy Smith enjoy 'goofing' off.

Lunch-time at Lane is a very popular time. Students enjoy the 'break' and their lunches.

Cheryl Williams concentrates on help she receives in order to finish her work.

Mr. Hopkins waves his magic wand and suddenly music flows from this seventh grade music class.

Mrs. Mills observes as Barb Grove creates a crayon drawing for her art class project.

Donde Esta Iman? Iman! recites Senor Miller's Spanish class, while thinking--what????

Shari Kunkel smiles as she and her friend take a break from their studies in English class.

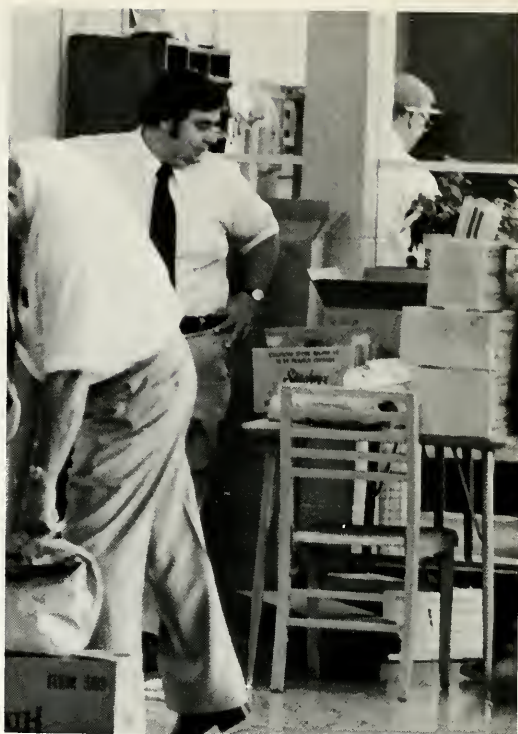

Bill Ludwig and Neil Cowles work at the metal lathe to complete a project for shop class.

Even though Carol is hurrying to her sixth period class, she finds time to stop for a needed drink.

Three of Lane's 'muscular' athletes help distribute candy order to homerooms.

Mr. Davis sorts out the boxes of candy for each homeroom. Over 10,000 boxes were sold by 875 Vikings.

Service workers Kim Gephart and Dave Dumoulin take time out to take a message to Mrs. Ealing.

Every Viking Day Is Busy, Busy, Busy . . .

Mr. Andrews listens closely as a student asks a question about water pollution.

Cody Lewis, Troy Peotter, and Dave Perrey take time to check out what's going on at Lane.

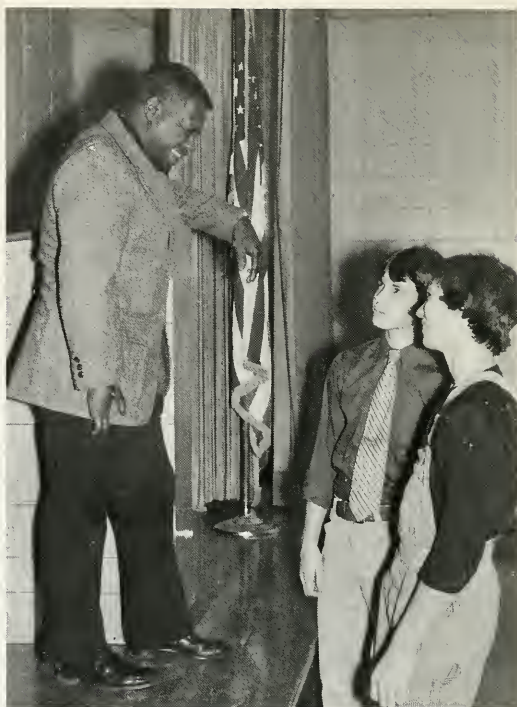

Mr. Well's third period class watches as he demonstrates how to work with lab materials and shows students the next procedure they will use.

Vikings Keep Busy With Projects

Two unidentified super candy salesmen wait for a ride home, wondering why they sold so much candy.

Mr. Renfro, Lane's counselor aide, talks to Ron Wise and Dave Dumoulin about the upcoming basketball game between the varsity and faculty.

Dave Hire and Tim Allison show interest in Mr. Clark's 'fun' social studies assignment.

Faculty

Mr. Thomas Williams has completed his sixth year as principal of Lane. Mr. Williams is concerned about the educational values of all students. Among his many duties as principal are planning school programs, giving assistance to students and staff members and keeping the school curriculum up to date.

Administrators Make For An Interesting Year

Cafeteria supervision discipline problems, and arranging classes and activities are all responsibilities of Mr. James Davis, Lane's assistant principal. He also gives special help to the teachers and students, whenever needed.

Lane's guidance counselors, Mr. Kaufman and Mrs. McDougale, are always willing to help students with their needs. Some of their duties include helping students with problems, scheduling of classes, school activities and cafeteria supervision. These and other responsibilities keep them very busy every day.

The secretarial staff of Lane consists of, standing left to right, Mrs. Kindy, who is in charge of daily attendance records and study hall, Mrs. Ealing who takes care of all general secretarial work and Mrs. Younghaus, who is the secretary-treasurer of the school.

The school nurse, Mrs. Spitler, aids students who are sick or injured. Here, she helps Sam Benson.
